ECUADOR

UNITED STATES GOLD DREDGING AND RUBBER COMPANY Owns and Will Operate

TITLE IN FEE SIMPLE

225,000 ACRES

KNOWN AS UIMBI ESTATE, PROVINCE OF ESMERALDAS, ECUADOR

This Estate has been known as a mining property for the past one hundred years—and fifty years ago, before the abolition of slavery, was very profitably worked by the Spaniards. Important notice has been taken of this property by the United States Government, State Department, Bulletin 64, on Ecuador, and by the British Government in British Foreign Office Report, Bulletin No. 262 Miscellaneous Series.

PROMINENT ENGINEERS' REPORTS

Very large sums have been expended to establish values and conditions before offering this investment to the Public. Mr. Raymond Payne, of the firm of F. W. Payne and Co. of London and New Zealand, recognized consulting engineers and dredge experts, visited the property lately and reported conditions for dredging ideal, with very rich deposits of gold and platinum, which will give handsome returns. Mr. Payne was vouched for by N. F. Palmer and George Q. Palmer, of the Quintard Iron Works, New York City. Property has also been examined and reported upon favorably by several other experienced engineers.

SENOR DON LOUIS F. CARBO, Minister to the United States from Ecuador, stated about these mines in a communication of recent date as follows:

They are universally known in my country as very rich, and have been worked by hand labor for centuries. I am personally convinced that with proper machinery and management they would bring enormous returns."

LARGE PROFITS IN DREDGE MINING

The gold ship or gold dredge will handle more gravel than could 5,000 negroes by the old primitive methods. A modern bucket dredge requires few men to operate it. It is not very costly to build compared with mills and smelters. It is known by mining men to be the most profitable, economical and satisfactory method for handling placer deposits. It is recognized by conservative business men as the most profitable business known to-day. Over 100 of these dredges are now in operation in the West, in California, in Colorado. in the Klondyke, where large capitalists have invested millions, reaping vast and increasing profits wherever these perfected and powerful machines have been placed at work. They have also won great fortunes for their owners in New Zealand and in other parts of the world.

RICH GOLD AND PLATINUM VALUES IN OUR BLACK SAND

Mr. Payne, of F. W. Payne & Co., estimated that 4% of the gravel was black sand. Recent assays of this black sand made at the United States Assay Office, also by other well known assayers in this country, have shown values running above $1,400 per ton.

Several tons of this black sand were shipped to London for assaying. The large refiners there, the Mattheys, who handle the South African gold, reported assays above $200 per ton, and nearly one-half platinum

Further investigations led the owners of this and adjoining properties to believe that they have found the second great source of the world's platinum supply. At present the world gets its platinum from the Ural Mountains, and the supply there, it has been believed, was of meteoric origin. All attempts to find platinum in place in the earth's rocks have failed. Therefore has platinum held its place as being almost of an equal market value with gold, while its future supply has been at times a very serious question considering its large use in the field of electricity.

Men who know unhesitatingly say that these deposits will probably be the greatest platinum and greatest gold properties in the world.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR INVESTORS

Such a development is taking place on our vast property of 225,000 acres, with 60 miles of river bed in Ecuador. The title is perfect. Location accessible, being only 30 miles from sea coast on a navigable river, permitting our heavy machinery to be shipped directly to the property by boat. We have already interested a large number of conservative business men in this enterprise, men of standing in their respective communities. This company is managed by reliable and thoroughly capable business men in the interests of all the stockholders. These men have shown their faith in the large profits to be derived from this business by their heavy individual investments. We soon expect to have a large dredge in operation on this property, placing the company on a dividend-paying basis. Only a limited amount of Treasury securities for sale at present prices.

If it puts the condition at $1 to $2 or thereabout the general opinion is that prices will de-cline. If it falls below 80 there may be an upward turn. As the case stands some of the cleverest operators are, for the moment at any rate, confessedly befogged. And little wonder, there is such a wide divergence of cpinion among the pub-lished reports. The Financial Chronicle issued an interesting resum of the present conditions in the cotton belt and the Journal
